FOREWORD

The past year has seen many people, events and changes which have become a part of the long and rich history that is Mansfield. It has been the aim of the editors to catch and preserve as much of the spirit and faces of this year as circumstances permitted. With this aim in mind the editors have attempted to present a picture of the year, as you were acquainted with it, in this twenty-second volume of The Carontawan.

DEDICATION

This passing school year has produced a wealth of materialization. Administrative ideals, individual and group cooperation and new buildings, together with the careful budgeting of time and expenses have made Mansfield State Teachers College increasingly outstanding for its ability to train teachers effectively, efficiently and economically. Through the persistent efforts of our faculty and administration, fair and just methods of evaluating grades, and distributing honors to deserving persons have been devised to give to Mansfield's students as much variety in experience and all due honors as well as a genuine feeling of honest satisfaction.

Thousands of dollars have been spent for new buildings and training equipment during the past year. These new buildings are now nearing completion as though in celebration of our success in education; yet, more practically may be used as an aid to further our profession. As loyal students and prospective teachers we, the Class of 1939, regard the achievements recently made by our college as positive steps toward an ideal world and wish to express our sincere appreciation and gratification to all concerned by dedicating this 1939 Carontawan to the Progress of Mansfield State Teachers College.

HIS MESSAGE

At the end of a tortuous, difficult period of study and reflection, the open pathways of the world stand before you. The practical beginnings of a constructive life of purpose are already in the process of germination. The realism of doing things and the possibility of achieving objectives are clearly and definitely discernible. To build a career of service, success, and happiness, both in the interest of society at large and self, becomes a paramount ambition.

Whatever you do, do well. Always justify the faith of society in your integrity by constantly striving to improve the social and economic order. Try to leave upon the plastic minds of youth imprints of genuine idealism. Develop higher and better standards of performance in every task to which your efforts are committed. Be kind, sympathetic, and understanding. In espousing a worthy cause, never compromise. Stand for principle, honor, and service. Remember that setbacks in the search for truth will be temporary and that right ultimately prevails.

Your Alma Mater believes in you. Justify that trust by good deeds and successful achievement. My best wishes are wholeheartedly extended to each and every member of the graduating class.

Youth faces a future of uncertainty and of comparative insecurity. Social and economic readjustments make it difficult to foresee the direction and degree of change, and the nature of the preparation that will be adequate. Two things seem certain. 1. they will succeed who have courage to adventure into the unknown; and, 2. if we have the courage to reorder our economic life so that machines shall be our servants and not our masters, the future will require men and women of culture, of brain rather than brawn. For young people of vision and courage a college course of the right kind will be indispensable. There never can be too much education if it is of the right kind. Herein lies the challenge of the present crisis.

Isaac Doughton.

The aim of Mansfield State Teachers College is to educate its students to become trained teachers. It is proud of its past record. Its graduates have gone out not only as teachers but as better citizens and as citizens better adjusted to the world than when they entered college.

At this time when one considers and envisages the World of Tomorrow and its progress in education as well as in other respects, it is hoped that all students will come to Mansfield with the firm resolve to do their very best work. The realization of the main purpose of the college course on the part of the students combined with the cooperation of the faculty should enable Mansfield to occupy an even more prominent place in our educational system.

TO THE SENIORS OF THE CLASS OF 1939

Mansfield State Teachers College extends its best wishes to you. It hopes time will prove your life here for four years has brought you experience enough to make you competent, learning enough to make you humble, friendship enough to make your hearts large and warm, culture enough to teach you the refinement of simplicity, and wisdom enough to show you great and small in their true relation. It hopes that through its activities you have learned a way to live with people artistically, a way to meet the demands of your profession constructively, and a way to participate in a democratic society effectively.

The executive body of the Men's Student Cooperative Government Association exists primarily to foster customs and traditions and to act as an intermediary between students and faculty. Adequate representation of both downtown and dormitory students is achieved by the provisions of the Association's constitution.

Problems of student life are adjusted by the council and affairs of everyday interest are considered. Periodically the men's council convenes with that of the women. Students cooperate in planning the social calendar and to act upon legislation of mutual concern. The Student Handbook, compiled by this joint organization, represents the success of this system.

Top: Alger, Cleveland, Davis, Fahey, Ganung, Treatheway.

This group, under the leadership of the Dean of Women, endeavors to make the life of every woman student at Mansfield as rich and satisfying as possible. Because strength of personality is an essential quality for women worthy to be teachers, the Council provides opportunities for students to accept social responsibility, to make just decisions and wise choices, and to develop self-control.

Whenever a number of people live together, there must exist some form of government. At Mansfield, Council members are charged with the responsibility of formulating and enforcing regulations necessary for promoting happy, harmonious, and effective living-together. In weekly house or hall meetings, they lead discussions relating to problems of the College community.

The Women's Council, with the Men's Council, engages in a number of activities. These two groups plan the social life for the College. College dances and informal game parties on Saturday evenings; informal dances on Mondays, Wednesday, and Fridays; teas, Musicals, and Vesper programs on Sundays. With special committees, they assist in the planning of celebrations of special occasions, such as Home-coming Day, Parents' Day, Thanksgiving Day, and the Christmas Season. They are ushers at College movies and assemblies. They assign seats in the dining room for each six-week period.

Today we are most concerned with developing children into good citizens. With this in mind let us visit the Elementary Laboratory school. In the kindergarten we find children playing with large blocks, playing house, painting, or perhaps sitting in a circle singing and listening to songs. As they sing they interpret the song with bodily motions. The aim of the Kindergarten program is to develop coordination, and to teach the children to play together. In the primary department we find an activity program well under way. The subject of discussion is the dairy. The activity was suggested by the children, discussed under the direction of the teacher, the plans for development worked out by the group. All paintings, building, and other construction is done by the children. In fact they do everything concerned with the activity that it is possible for them to do.

In the upper grades we visit a kind of democracy where the teacher is a limited monarch, as it were. She is there to guide, and give whatever kind of aid necessary. Here the activity is carried out within the various classes. The class as a social group decides upon a program, plans its development, and has a large voice in appointing committees, etc. The grade votes for its class officers and any other officials needed from time to time. When a disciplinary problem within their range occurs, they solve it.

Under the excellent supervision of the Laboratory School faculty, the student teacher learns how to successfully carry out an activity program. Such practice teaching develops her ability to prepare and manage class recitations, as well as gives her experience in putting on programs. She also acquires a wide variety of material which will be useful in later life. This program also aids the teacher in distinguishing the interests, abilities, and capacities of her pupils. By knowing these things she can build up a personality advantageous to the individual. Progress made by the child is designated by the report cards which give a complete record of his social as well as his academic development. Under this system the child is rated to see whether or not he is working up to his own ability.

It can readily be seen that we are most concerned with personality development. The child centered school better prepares the student teacher to meet the educational problems which will be likely to confront him in his teaching career.

The new Elementary Laboratory School, which is the last word in experimental schools, promises to be beneficial to both the teacher and to the pupils. The observation rooms in this building are equipped with facilities which permit the student teacher, supervisor, or other observer to view a class at work without the pupils' being aware of the onlooker's presence. In this spacious new building the children will be instructed through the activity program, which tends to promote citizenship, cooperation, and industry as well as required knowledge. The new building will undoubtedly afford a wider range of opportunity for both the teachers and for their pupils.

The Junior High School, together with the Elementary School, is one of the most important and longest remembered buildings on this Teachers College Campus. It is in this building that the student teacher receives her first experiences in teaching and first becomes acquainted with the nature of the stuff that is a Junior High School pupil. Many other experiences are soon forgotten, but the memory of those "cherubs" will linger long.

Careful supervision by the department heads keep the methods, materials and matter up-to-date in all the regular classes, giving both the pupils and the student teachers all the concomitant benefits. The Home Economics department offers training in dressmaking, cooking, interior decorating and other practical household arts. The Music department furnishes advantages to the pupils through mixed choruses, music appreciation, instrument building, band, orchestra, etc. For the boys the woodshop and the printing shop offer training in woodworking, some metal art work, printing, tanning of hides and many other varied and useful experiences. The art room and the gymnasium provide room for creative and physical growth for both boys and girls. Instruction in the regular classes is supplemented and enriched by many extra-curricular activities in which each individual student is given an opportunity and urged to participate. Some of these are the school newspaper, athletic competition and many instructive clubs such as the Camera Club, Science Club, etc. It is interesting to note that the student governing body makes practically all the regulations concerning student behavior and indeed has more freedom in self-rule than many schools more advanced.

The student teachers receive much of excellent training and experience here. In regular conferences the department supervisors help plan future lessons with the student teachers and offer many helpful suggestions for the improvement of classroom technique. There are "extra-curricular" activities for the student teacher also. Coaching athletic teams, sponsoring the newspaper, supervising club activities and directing musical organizations are representative types. These activities add much to the experience and understanding necessary to the effectual teacher.

Much credit is due to Dr. Retan and his staff of supervisors for their interest and patience in the beginning teacher and for making an interesting work more pleasant.

Mansfield State Teachers College has one of the finest music courses in the state. For the past seventeen years Mrs. Grace Steadman has held the position as Dean of Music. Under her supervision numerous changes have occurred and many improvements have been made in the music course. Now music supervisors are well equipped with the best educational methods in the science of music. Students in the music course are trained in sight reading, dictation, harmony and music history. They acquire experience in both instrumental and choral conducting. They have practical experience in planning and teaching lessons in the grades and junior and senior high schools.

There are several musical organizations which offer excellent opportunities for students to study and perform fine musical literature. They play an important part in all phases of college activity. One such organization is the Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Bernard Mandelkern. Under his fine leadership, the orchestra has risen to a prominent place on the campus. It offers opportunity for students to learn orchestral technique, and to become acquainted with music of the Great Masters.

The Madrigal Group made its appearance on the campus for the first time this year. This group consists of six voices selected from the student body by means of individual try-outs. The purpose of the Madrigal Group is to study and perform madrigals. This group has done excellent work under the direction of Miss Brooks.

The Symphonic Band, the organization which rose to a prominent place last year under the direction of Mr. George Sallade Howard, has held a top position again this year. The activities of the band this year included numerous appearances in assembly, radio broadcasts over Station W. E. S. G., concert tours in the southern part of the state, Savona, Dushore, Wellsboro and a trip to the New York World's Fair. The band had the honor this year of playing under the baton of Arthur Pryor.

The Vested Choir, again under the direction of Miss Randall, has appeared in assembly programs and in outside concerts in Blossburg and in the Baptist Church at Mansfield. The Choir is composed of forty students selected by individual try-outs. Its aims are to acquaint students with the best choral literature, both sacred and secular.

Each year practically all the students in the music department take active part in the production of a first class performance of one of the best-known light operas of musical literature. This year the Opera Club is presenting "Iolanthe", by Gilbert and Sullivan. This experience is invaluable to the teacher who has the opportunity to produce operettas in his own school.

Playing an increasingly important role in the musical life of the college are the Red and Black Serenaders. Since dance music is here permanently, the Red and Blacks aim to place this music on as high a plane as possible. Not only is the dance band used for dances on the campus, but in augmented form it is employed as a concert organization in connection with the assembly programs of the college.

Uniting the entire music department is the Music Supervisors Club and Chorus. Each student automatically becomes a member when he enrolls in the music course. The club meets once each month and a special program is given by the students or faculty members. The Chorus studies fine choral music. It has been concentrating its efforts on the "Holy City" by Gaul.

Mansfield music graduates have proved by their achievements in their own schools that the training they received at Mansfield has enabled them to complete favorably with graduates of any institution of its kind.

Home Economics has become, through the efforts of courageous leaders, one of the leading fields in education. The definition of home economics as set forth in 1913 is narrow indeed: "Home Economics is the study of the economic, sanitary and aesthetic aspects of food, clothing and shelter as connected with their selection, preparation and use by the family in the home or by other groups". Today Ivol Spafford writes: "Home Economics has broadened its field to include a rich body of subject matter drawn from science, art, psychology, ethics and sociology and applied to the problems of personal, family and group living. Home Economics presented in its broader bearings contributes to an understanding of how people have met problems of living under many different conditions and how they have raised the standard of living, of culture and of civilization by improving their ways of doing". Such subjects as Home Planning, Home Management, Family Relations, Child Development, Household Economics, Principles of Art, and Boy's Science in the Home have been added to the curriculum.

Many changes have taken place this year in the department. A new building has taken its place on the campus; a new teacher has come to share her knowledge with us; the Freshman Class will be one step farther advanced in the study of homemaking; the Seniors will be finding positions in the large field, leaving their duties behind to the succeeding classes.

The courses required in the first two years provide a background of information, culture and experience and include such subjects as Foods, Clothing, Costume Design, Principles of Art, Home Nursing and Chemistry. The courses offered in the last two years provide various opportunities to put into practice all the subject matter which has been presented. The girls gain valuable experience in running a home in the six weeks which they spend in the Home Management House. Since the new building has been built the Home Management practice will be done in an apartment arranged in one end of the building. A new experience which will be offered in the new apartment is that of caring for a baby. Operating a school lunch in the Junior High School for students and faculty members supplies experience in nutrition and quantity cookery. Student teaching is arranged in the Junior High School for the Junior "Home-Eccers". In the senior year, a teaching period of six weeks is spent in vocational departments in this section of Pennsylvania. In connection with the Child Development course the senior girls now have the opportunity to assist in a nursery school, thus gaining experience in dealing with small children.

A beloved former member of the faculty made this prediction: "The woman trained in this work is fortunate and the opportunities open to her are many". We, as Seniors, have been trained in Home Economics. We have many fond memories of living together in the Home Management House. In our school lunch and teaching in the Junior High School we made many new acquaintances. Now that the Senior year is upon us we will not leave the campus behind forever; news letters each month will keep us informed of the happenings here; educational conferences, speakers and other events will provide worthwhile reasons for returning frequently. Out in the field we have a strong desire to grasp the opportunities we shall find and not only carry on the work for which we are trained but do something better. The efforts of our faculty members will have been in vain if we do not maintain a progressive spirit and continue to seek further knowledge so that we may better serve humanity.

MESSAGE

S Perhaps the most impressive day of the year for us Seniors is Com-E mencement Day. On that day the awarding of diplomas writes finis to N an exciting chapter of our lives, a chapter in which the struggles, the
I laughter, the work and the play which have made up four years of O college life have been the Great Adventure. Such an adventure has not R left us unchanged. Our lives have been made fuller by all the friends and acquaintances we have come to know; we have acquired at least a portion of the learning to which we have been exposed; and, having fulfilled the requirements to follow a chosen profession, we have prepared ourselves for a doubtful future.

C Any attempt to predicate a successful and untroubled future in the L face of the current economic insecurity at home and the political confu-
A sion abroad would be hypocritical. Man's scientific progress has made
S this a small world, indeed. Consequently, a fantastic notion halfway
S around the Earth may be felt closer to us with direct and direful effect.
Instead, however, let us hope that the days to come will contain much of happiness, of the satisfaction of personal achievement and service to others, and, finally, of peace and pleasant reminiscences.

S This, then, is our Commencement—the beginning of a new and greater Adventure—to discover what lies behind the multicolored curtain of Tomorrow.

CLASS HISTORY

Four years ago we began our college life much as any other class before us. We were "green"; we had to submit to the indignities of Freshman rules; and we looked upon the Seniors with a respect approaching awe. During the course of our four years spent here passing like other senior classes from greenness to dignity, we have contributed much to the life of the school and feel that we were just a little different from other classes. As freshmen we were precocious. During the gridiron war we revived a flagging spirit by literally painting the town white—helped spur the warriors on with our torchlight processions and bonfires. In our Sophomore and Junior years we took over some of the vacancies in school life left by graduating Seniors and did the jobs well.

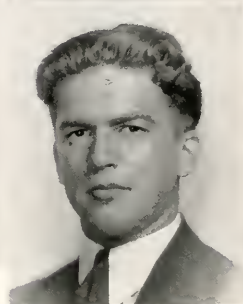

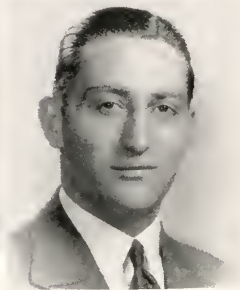

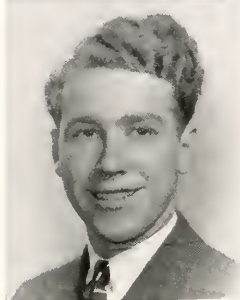

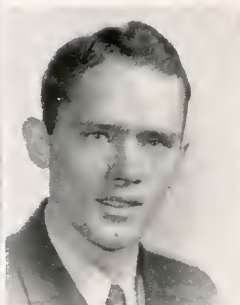

Our last year is terminating with a record of noteworthy events and outstanding personalities. Our football team, with the able assistance of such capable senior stalwarts as Captain Scanlon, Bernie Feldman, Jack Terry and Nick Yuric, inscribed our year in the archives of Mansfield history by capturing the mythical State Teachers College championship for the first time in many years. Basketball under new coaching has launched an era which shows promise of making history in that field. However, our accomplishments have not been confined to athletics alone. Ralph Playfoot has made a record in academic achievement which is not often approached, and Robert Lupton has been president of his class for four consecutive years, another record of which to be proud.

The girls, too, have played an active part in making our last year an eventful one. The council under the leadership of Vera Harrison has had a year full of administrative achievement; June Hughes planned and staged a most colorful May Day ceremony, an event which may become traditional, and our Senior Ball surpassed all others, thanks to the efforts of Gladyce Ganung, Bobbie Toy, Doris Carter, Erla Coit and others.

And so we can go on and name a number of other achievements which we can set up as goals for the classes which follow us, and which we have realized through constant application and an all accomplishing enthusiasm. Let us hope that these qualities remain with us through the years and lead us on to the greater successes which await us.

CLASS HISTORY

Would you recognize the "Frosh" Class of '36 as the present Junior class? After two years of diligent study and pleasant associations we have added to the development of our character and personality and are eager to carry out the demands and desires of our chosen profession.

What has been our contribution to the life in Mansfield? From the very beginning we have been striving to maintain the standards of our Alma Mater. Our Sophomore Hop was one of our outstanding successes.

We have made many contributions to athletics. Thomas Manley, Bernie Cunningham, Bob A. Smith, Jack Taylor, Gene Cecere, Frank Lock, and Paul Marcikonis were members of the championship football team; Walter Brion and Jim Hawkins represented us in basketball; and Harry Cooley, Harry Hughes, Arnold Parker and Jack Peterson were our wrestlers.

Athletics are not our only strong points. Many of the club and other extra-curricular offices were held by us. Bob C. Smith presided over Phi Sigma Pi; Virginia Fahey, Phyllis Wilcox, William Conner and Alden Bowser represented us in the Student Council; Virginia Fahey was on the Carontawan Board; and Max Gannon was Business Manager of the Flashlight.

This year we have undertaken a new problem—that of making and adopting a new constitution and arranging a program which will provide for larger business and social connections within the class.

Perhaps the talent and personalities of our class have not all been discovered, but we have another year in which to accomplish this and to maintain the standards and goals we set as Freshmen.

CLASS HISTORY

To clarify the present we must look into the past. Last year we were, so to speak, the "freaks" of the campus. The week after school opened sophomores took delight in setting us apart from others by very discriminating means. I need not further mention how green we were as "Frosh" —wide eyed and anxious to do just the right thing in order to make a favorable impression and get off to a good start.

As the year wore on we gradually became acquainted with college life. Now another year has slipped by and a new class has stepped in to fill our place. When we were elevated to the sophomoreic degree, what pleasure we took in making goats of the "Frosh," being only too glad to make them feel as low and inexperienced as we had been made to feel. But we haven't spent all our time in amusement at someone else's expense. We found that this part of it is only a minor phase in college life and should be taken lightly.

Being a Sophomore has its advantages as well as its disadvantages. Our Freshman year, in which we had to become accustomed to college life and principles, has passed; now as Sophomores we probably think we know more than we really do (It's tradition!). However, we still have two more years in which to think over this conclusion, to profit by it and to acquire added learning and sophistication so that we may take our places in the world and fill them well. It is needless to say that we should be glad we have these two years ahead of us because when we have graduated from M. S. T. C. we will doubtlessly look back on our college days with pleasant memories, wishing we were here again.

CLASS HISTORY

It was on September 13, 1938, that another "fresh Frosh" group entered Mansfield. "high upon the eastern hill". With blood in their collective eye the upper classmen set about to put us in our place. Although we resented this at that particular time, now we must attribute our early acquaintanceships with our classmates and upperclassmen to the various indignities to which we were submitted. With all due credit, too, we thank the sophomores for the splendid picnic which they gave us before the summer suns had faded entirely. This picnic featured a girls' and boys' playground ball game, after which we feasted on hot weiners, pickles, ripe apples and the conversation of those who were to be work and play mates for the ensuing four years. After several get-together functions such as these, Dr. Paul J. Steele, our adviser, called the class together officially as a group for the first time and we elected our class officers. President Jerry's first duty was to appoint a committee which drew up our class constitution.

The biggest event for our college year, however, was our class dance, popularly known as the "Frosh Frolic", held on February 25. The Red and Black Serenaders, the school dance band, furnished the music. The various committees worked hard to put across our theme idea—the New York World's Fair—illustrated by the well known sphere and trylon, the Fair motto, "Time Tears On," and the blue and white pennant representing the Fair's official colors. Although the sun is just rising on a new day in our lives, we are looking forward to it as a "Great Day" which we, as the Class of 1942, shall celebrate and finally terminate together.

RETROSPECT AND PROSPECT

O

The Mansfield State Teachers College Championship football team for 1938 piled up the most enviable record that has ever been made by a Mansfield football team. This record demanded recognition from every leading Eastern newspaper and caused us to be ranked among the leading colleges in the East. The record of seven wins against no defeats with only two points being scored against the team was surpassed only by Duke University.

In compiling this record, the team defeated Dickinson Junior College 7-0 with less than three weeks of practice; they handed Indiana their first Home Coming Day defeat in ten years; with a 31-0 victory over Stroudsburg, they chalked up the highest score registered against Stroudsburg this year.

The team was practically perfect in every department this year. The line, with two speedy ends who were both excellent pass receivers, was a fast charging, hard hitting line that changed into the proverbial stonewall on defense. The backfield worked as one man combining strategy, speed, endurance, and power.

Feldman, who was listed among the leading scorers of the nation, received honorable mention for the "Little All-American Team" for 1938, candidates for which are picked from colleges with not exceeding 1,000 students.

At the end of the season, the team was honored at a banquet celebrating the winning of the State Teachers College Football Championship by Mansfield. Many former Mansfield and other noted athletes attended the banquet. Among those present were: Harry Furman, a member of the 1906 Mansfield team; Ed Russell, who later, played football with Jim Thorpe, Francis Kelly, former Mansfield player, Al Todd and Joe Shaute, both professional baseball players; Fred Bedenk, who played with Mansfield and is now head baseball coach at Penn State.

The credit for this very successful season goes to Coach Martin for his excellent coaching and to the entire first team and the reserves for their ability and determination to win.

For next year the team will be losing six players. In spite of this the prospect seems favorable. There was material on the reserve squad, now properly experienced, which should fill in the vacancies left by the graduating players well. These and any new men that may come in should be able to carry on the winning spirit.

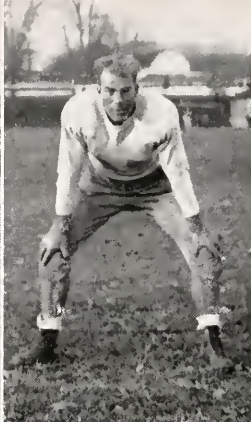

The players being lost by graduation are Bernie Feldman, one of the best blocking backs Mansfield teams have ever had; Jack Terry, an end who was a constant worry to opposing punters and passers; Nick Yurcic, a "Hard Rock" in the stonewall line; Captain Jimmy Scanlon, center, who could diagnose the plays as soon as the ball was snapped; Willis Benson, another hard hitting lineman, and Vern Casselbury, whose punting kept opposing teams away from our territory.

The football team opened the season by renewing its rivalry with Dickinson Junior College of Williamsport. The game which was played on the West Third Street Stadium in Williamsport, was one of the hardest fought games of the season. Dickinson held Mansfield on even terms for the first three periods. Mansfield recovered a blocked punt on Dickinson's 28-yard line late in the fourth quarter to place them in scoring position. Manley lined a pass to Cunningham, who in turn lateraled to Feldman, the latter going over for a touchdown. Feldman place-kicked the extra point.

Mansfield entertained a Parents' Day crowd of 2,500 by trouncing Edinboro State Teachers College 13-0 in the first home game of the season. This was one of the largest crowds in Mansfield gridiron history.

Mansfield was again unable to score in the first half of the game. Both touchdowns came as results of long marches, the first after a 48-yard march and the second terminated a march of 70 yards. Manley carried the ball over from the five-yard line for the first score with Feldman converting. Cunningham scored on an end-around play from the two-yard stripe for the final score in the fourth quarter.

Mansfield amassed 13 first downs to Edinboro's 2 to completely dominate the play throughout the game.

Mansfield chalked up its third win of the season with a 14-0 victory over Bloomsburg State Teachers at Bloomsburg.

Mansfield marched 70 yards for the first score in the second period. Feldman got loose around left end for 45 yards to put the ball in scoring position and later took a pass in the end zone for the score.

The second touchdown came in the fourth quarter after a 50-yard march, with Cecere going the last 18 yards for the score. He drop-kicked both extra points.

Mansfield had nine first downs to seven for Bloomsburg.

Mansfield routed Millersville 28-2 at Smythe Park before a large Homecoming crowd for its fourth straight victory.

Feldman scored from the five-yard line early in the first quarter for the first Mansfield score. It was in this quarter that Millersville scored a touchback, accounting for the lone two points that were scored against Mansfield during the entire season.

Feldman again scored from the 5-yard line in the second period with Cecere kicking the extra point. On the first play after the kick-off, Manley ran 75 yards before being stopped on the 5-yard line. He went over on the next play and Cecere converted. Kisilewski scored the final touchdown in the third quarter.

The Red and Black eleven was given its stiffest test of the year when it traveled to Indiana to meet the Indiana Teachers. Both teams played on even terms for the first three quarters with neither team able to get into scoring position. Indiana's only scoring threat, late in the first half, was broken up when Mansfield intercepted an Indiana pass.

Late in the Fourth quarter, Feldman intercepted an Indiana pass on the Indiana 40-yard line and returned it to the 32. With Lock doing most of the ball carrying, Mansfield scored in seven plays for the only score of the game.

Displaying a varied running and passing attack the Mountaineers defeated their old rivals, Stroudsburg Teachers by a 31-0 score. This was Mansfield's sixth victory of the season.

Mansfield scored almost at will, with Feldman going over for the first score in the initial quarter. Lock and Scanlon each scored once in the second. Kisilewski and Cecere each tallied one in the third period to complete the Mansfield scoring.

Mansfield piled up 11 first down to 5 for Stroudsburg and only once did Stroudsburg penetrate beyond the Mansfield 40-yard stripe.

Playing St. Francis College in a non-conference game, Mansfield finished the season unbeaten with a well-deserved 7-0 victory.

Mansfield recovered a fumble on the St. Francis 30-yard line in the first quarter. A few plays later Feldman scored from the 17-yard line for the only score of the game.

After this score the Mansfield line put on the strongest defensive play of the year to prevent a St. Francis score, once stopping them on the 5-yard line. The playing of the two ends, Terry and Cunningham, featured this defensive stand.

B The basketball team, under the leadership of Head Coach Martin,
A had a better than average season, winning nine games and losing eight.
S Only four of these eight games that were lost were what one calls a de-K cisive defeat. Three of these defeats came during a gruelling trip during E which the team played Bloomsburg S. T. C., Millersville State Teachers,
State Champions this year, and Dickinson Jr. College on successive nights.
The team dropped only three games to opposing teams while playing on its home court.

T Captain Davis, who was a varsity man last year, led the scoring with
B total of 94 points. He was followed closely by Brion, towering center;
A Hawkins, a flashy forward with plenty of basketball knowledge; and
L Taylor, who pulled several games out of the fire with spectacular shots.
L The two remaining men on the starting five, Yurcic and Smith, were responsible for holding the opposing teams' score down by close and never failing guarding. The reserves, who were capable of stepping in and filling these players' shoes at any time, were Cunningham, Butsavage, Dillman, MacDonald, Frenchko, and Kelly.

Combining a fast offense and a tight defense, the team, this year, really made a successful season for itself by defeating its two chief rivals, Stroudsburg State Teachers College and the strong Ithaca College team.
This was the first time in many years that a Mansfield basketball team had defeated either of these teams. For the defeat of these two teams and for the record which they compiled for the season against strong opposition the team deserves much commendation.

BASKETBALL GAMES

The team started the season right with wins over Dickinson Jr. College and the Elmira Y. M. C. A. The first defeat of the season was a 27-24 loss to Niagara U. of Rochester. Bloomsburg took our measure 28-22, and Lock Haven, not to be outdone, handed us a 39-23 set-back. Playing some of the best basketball of the season, the team bowled over Elmira "Y" 45-41 for the second time this season. The Alumni proved to be no opposition and came out on the short end of a 54-24 score. Kutztown was defeated 36-34 in one of the closest games of the year. Lock Haven, again, was too much for the varsity and they took a 46-25 beating; however, they made up for this with a 35-32 win over our old rival, Stroudsburg. A high scoring contest at Ithaca went to Ithaca College by a 49-42 score, followed by a 37-32 win over Indiana. Traveling for three days and playing three different teams on three successive nights proved to be too much and it resulted in a loss to Bloomsburg the first night, a decisive 49-21 victory for Millersville and a beating by Dickinson, Jr., College. Even this disastrous trip did not discourage the team and they came back strong to close the season with wins over Ithaca College and Rochester Mechanics Institute.

Despite the fact that graduation deprived the wrestling team of the services of three veterans. Lambert, Brewer, and Berzito, the team continued to carry on in a winning style, hanging up three victories against four defeats. In none of these meets did Mansfield lose by more than six points.

The team was coached this year by Kenneth Whitney, who wrestled for Mansfield in the 165-pound class for three years and was elected captain of the team in his final year. Coach Whitney was aided by Co-Captains Jack Terry and Harry Cooley and by Manager John Ramolonis.

Cut of the group who worked out in the wrestling room, Pyle, Peterson, and Lupton were selected to wrestle in the 115-pound class; Starks wrestled in the 128-pound class; Jenkins wrestled 135 pounds; Co-Captain Cooley took care of the 145-pound division; Parker had a very successful season in the 155-pound class; Hughes was the 165-pound man; Co-Captain Terry moved up from the 165-pound division which he occupied last year to the 175-pound class; the unlimited division was shared by Coleman and Jones, who showed up well, although they were both inexperienced men in the wrestling game.

While the whole team wrestled well for the entire season, the outstanding men were Arnold Parker in the 165-pound class and Co-Captain Cooley in the 145-pound division. Both of these men produced excellent records. Parker had a record of six wins against one defeat in seven matches.

The wrestling team opened the season with a 20-16 victory over Lock Haven State Teachers. Cooley, Parker, and Hughes each pinned his man for a total of 15 points, and forfeit by Lock Haven in the unlimited class won the meet for Mansfield.

The team journeyed to Elmira on January 24, and ran into their first defeat of the season at the hands of the Elmira Y. M. C. A. There were some very fast matches in the meet with every man wrestling his best. However, Elmira was slightly better and came out on the top with a close 20-18 victory.

In the first home meet of the year, the wrestlers proved to the crowd that the loss to Elmira Y. M. C. A. did not discourage them by humbling Bloomsburg 21-13. Winners for Mansfield were Jenkins, Cooley, Parker, Hughes, and Matthews, who wrestled an exhibition bout when Bloomsburg was forced to forfeit in the 175-pound division.

Mansfield tasted defeat for the second time during the wrestling season when they were defeated at Mansfield 17-12 by the Cornell Junior Varsity. For the second time this year, the men were unable to come through when points were needed. Every man did his part well but the Cornell team was just a bit too tough for us.

A 20-16 victory was sweet revenge for the defeat which the team received at the hands of the Elmira team earlier in the season. Each team won the same number of bouts in the meet but the Mansfield wrestlers who won each pinned his man. Starks, Jenkins, Cooley and Parker came through with victories.

Cornell teams seemed to hold a jinx over our wrestling them this year and the team dropped another meet to the Cornell Freshmen. Starks, Jenkins, and Matthews pinned their men but even this was not enough to win with. Parker was defeated for the first time this season, losing a close decision to Harris of Cornell.

The final meet of the year resulted in another defeat for Mansfield. Parker continued his "pinning ways," pinning his man in the fast time of 1.56. Another fall was registered by Starks. We won two bouts on decisions, which gave us a total of 16 points, just four points short of a tie.

B If experience, good coaching, and the determination to win mean
A anything, the baseball team should produce a record worth looking at S when the season is finished. Mansfield baseball teams usually compare favorably with other State Teachers' teams, and this year's team is expected to do even better.

E Graduation took its usual toll when Rice, Dolbear, Batulis, Lambert,
B and Peterson left. However, since only one of these men, Batulis, was a
A pitcher, the pitching staff is nearly the same as last year. Pitchers who L are available this year are: Terry, Marvin, Lindquist, and Dillman from last year's team. Fielders left from last year are numerous, including Feldman, Osgood, Kelly, Yurcic, Matthews, and others. The "rookies" who came in this year are expected to strengthen the team and make it a powerful nine. With Coach Martin at the head, we feel sure that the baseball team will be another team that Mansfield may be proud of.

L A close one at first—Coach Davis observing.

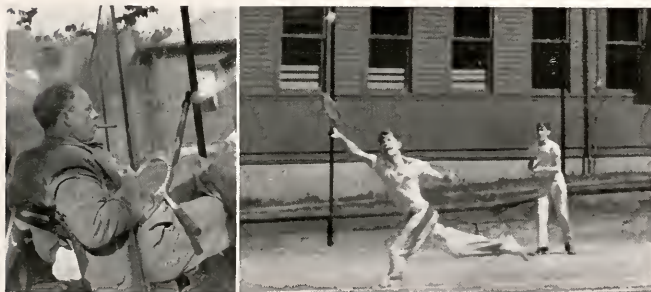

Frenchko, Gardiner, Webster, J. Doane, W. Doane, Davis, Farwell, Cornish, 1938 coach.

The prospects for a good tennis season under the able coaching of Dr. Hazelwood were very bright this year. Practically the same team which went through last season, winning seven meets and losing only one to the strong Cornell Freshman net squad, is playing for Mansfield. The team lost only one man, Farwell, by graduation.

This year's team is captained by Ben Gardiner, a senior and three year varsity man. Other members of last year's team are: Davis and Webster, seniors with three years of college tennis experience; Frenchko, who played in No. 1 position last year; Jack Doane, who was No. 2 man last year; Bill Doane, who was a vrsity man last year. These men are expected to come through on top in all their matches this year.

Hockey is one of the main features of the program of Women's Athletics in Mansfield. It is the first organized sport to get under way in the Fall. Many enthusiasts make their appearance on the hockey field from the beginning of the season to the final tournament which is conducted each year between the different class teams. It is every bit as much fun for the players as it is hard work.

Hockey is used, not only as recreation for the women students, but also for the purpose of developing strong, healthy bodies and alert minds. Speed and endurance are needed to follow the ball closely when attempting to score a goal. Many a goal has been prevented by the quick thinking and action of some alert person. These are the qualities which are built up in those who participate in the hockey games which are supervised by the director of Women's Athletics on the campus.

Seven different girls' teams, battling to gain fame and honor with the highest percentage of "wins", came into being and opened the intramural basketball season for girls in January. The squads, four of which are made up of Freshmen, with the other three teams composed of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, engaged in a Round Robin tournament whereby each team played six games, and no one was disqualified in the first round. Two points were given for each game won and one point for each game that ended in a tie. The Junior class team won the tournament with ten points out of a possible twelve.

In the other sections of this intramural league, the team made up of secondary and elementary students nosed out the Home Economics team and there were some very exciting battles in the tournament between the Music Supervisors and the Elementary-Secondary classes.

A fast doubles game—Miss Morris.

The Flashlight, student newspaper of the college, attempts to digest happenings in the various college activities and departments and to reflect student life. It is distributed regularly to students and faculty on the campus and to individuals and groups in our service area who are interested in the student life at Mansfield.

Close touch is kept with many of the college and high school publications in the nearby territory, and the exchange editor reports regularly to the rest of the board on information and ideas from these publications.

With the first issue of this year, came several changes which have greatly aided the staff in presenting papers which have given up to the minute news events and feature articles.

The paper was made five columns wide, and an appropriation was given to each issue for photographs and cartoons. The Flashlight also became a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

An enlarged staff, selected from all departments of the college, has been actively striving to prepare issues which fulfill the purposes of the publication. The staff meets each week and discusses not only the issue on which it is working, but also takes up problems of general interest in journalism. This year's editors have been Walter Retan, first semester and Robert Norris, second semester. Max Gannon has served as business manager and Mr. Charles Darrin as faculty adviser.

THETA TIMES

Every member of Phi Sigma Pi may be profoundly and justly proud of his fraternal relationship. Nevertheless he should desire the ability to recognize his "Brothers", as well as to be identified as a "Phi Siger" among his acquaintances. Theta Times is published annually by the Theta Chapter of Phi Sigma Pi for the purpose of binding the ties of friendship between the active and the alumni members of the Chapter.

Theta Times is of special interest to the active members of the brotherhood because of its accurate and interesting account of such fraternad activities as meetings, "eatings", dances, initiations, picnics, athletic engagements, and entertainments for the school. We who edit Theta Times believe that it is a worthwhile project and are grateful for the opportunity to serve our fraternity in this capacity.

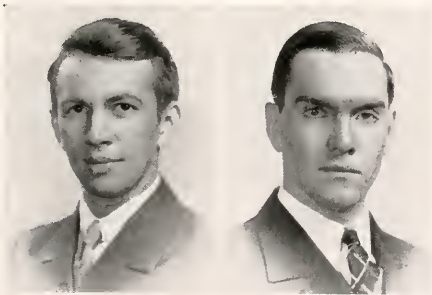

"THE CADENCE"

"The Last Thing in Music"

"The Cadence" is the summary of four years' growth in the music student. Through a thorough description of the various activities in which the Music Senior has participated in his years at college, "The Cadence" aims to help him in securing a position. In addition to the section dealing with the Seniors and their activity program there are articles on various phases of public school music written by prominent educators, among whom, in recent years, have been Dr. John Finley Williamson, Dr. Hollis

Dann, Dr. Joseph Noonan, Dr. Isaac Doughton and Prof L. A. Warren. Compiled under the direction of Mrs. Grace E. Steadman, Director of the Music Education Department, "The Cadence" gives the outsider a glimpse of the high type of work going into the preparation of the Music Supervisor today.

Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society in education, limits its membership to juniors and seniors who have attained excellence in scholarship. Since the purpose of Kappa Delta Pi is "to encourage high intellectual and scholastic standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education," emphasis has always been placed on high scholarship.

Kappa Delta Pi grew out of the Illinois Education Club which was established at the University of Illinois in 1909 to recognize and encourage high scholastic achievement and to dignify the teaching profession. In 1911 the Illinois Education Club was reorganized and as Kappa Delta Pi. Today Kappa Delta Pi ranks as one of the most influential organizations in the field of education. It embraces 116 institutional chapters. Its roster, studded with many eminent educators, bears approximately 2,500 names. The official organ of Kappa Delta Pi is the "Educational Forum", a high-class quarterly magazine which reflects the ideals of the society.

The Beta Rho Chapter was installed at Mansfield in 1930. Since its inception on the campus Kappa Delta Pi has carved an enviable reputation. This year the activities of the local chapter centered around a program devised to broaden the intellectual and cultural interests of the members. The monthly discussions were worked out in harmony with the objectives of this program. Kappa Delta Pi activities make a definite contribution to the growth and enrichment of its members.

Lambda Mu, honorary musical sorority, has just completed its eighth year. The sorority was originally founded by thirteen women students who chose for its name Lambda Mu, signifying Learning and Music. Its membership, active and alumnae, to date has reached the total of eighty-five.

The organization aims to promote a high standard of musicianship among its members and to stimulate interest in study and research in music literature. It aims to provide opportunities for individual and group performances. On the social side the sorority hopes for the development of integrity of character and a spirit of mutual interest and helpfulness among its members. For membership high musical and scholastic standards are necessary.

Each year Lambda Mu sponsors an Alumnae Week-end, at which time the sorority holds its formal initiation and banquet. A formal concert is presented each year and this year it took the form of a chapel program, which included a cantata, "A Mother Goose Arabesque", and Haydn's "Toy Symphony". A business meeting is held once a week and a program meeting once each month.

The activities of Beta Omicron are directed in many ways. Musically it gives its members a rich experience in selecting, conducting, and participating in both vocal and instrumental music. Socially the fraternity participates in noon luncheons, pledge parties, initiations, dances, and many fine business meetings. Through participation in such an organization as we have here at Mansfield, one gains a freedom of self-expression, and a feeling of fraternalism which will continue throughout his life. Our chapter sends a number of delegates to the National and Province Conventions, which are held every year for the purpose of furthering the development of music and fellowship. The conventions are organized and conducted by the leading men from every department of the musical world.

Since its installation, Beta Omicron has presented to the campus of Mansfield State Teachers College such organizations as the "Vienna Choir Boys", "The Don Cossack Male Chorus", "The Navy Band", and "The Marine Band". Many prominent musical educators, such as Howard Hanson, Peter Dykema, Charles Lutton, and Raymond Burrows have come to Mansfield through their interests in our chapter. Distinguished soloists include Rollo Maitland, organist; Charles Nagele, pianist; Ralph Patterson, pianist; Catherine Carver, pianist.

With a present membership numbering twenty-one active men, Sinfonia continues in a spirit of professional fraternalism and supreme musicianship.

Outstanding in its fellowship, scholarship, and character, Phi Sigma Pi, a professional educational fraternity for men, had been a leader on the campus since it was established here in 1930. It is distinctly professional in nature, being founded on the basis of superior scholarship plus the consideration of personality and having for its avowed purpose advancing of educational ideals.

Theta Chapter carries on an ambitious program each year. In the Fall we aid in sponsoring a well known speaker for Education Week. This year we engaged Dr. Phillip L. Cox of New York University. Active and entertaining meetings are held each month. Some are characterized by special speakers, others by discussions on current affairs or educational problems. Occasionally we have picnics, sleigh rides and parties. Each Spring we hold our annual formal dance. Much of the credit for the splendid interest that has been shown this year may be given to our efficient president, Robert C. Smith.

Our president and vice-president, Robert Norris, attended the national convention in Cleveland to take part in the discussion of some pertinent questions that confront the future welfare of the fraternity.

Three ideals which the organization strives to inculcate are: (1) the acquisition of knowledge, (2) the application of professional skill, (3) the fostering of fraternal fellowship.

The Lambda Chapter of Sigma Zeta, a National Honorary Science Society, was founded at Mansfield in the fall of 1936. Since its affiliation with the National Society, the activities of this organization have become an asset to the science students on our campus. Our regular meetings have enabled us to gain a broad outlook upon the wide range of scientific endeavor and at the same time an understanding of our own interests and capabilities.

As we filed into the third year of our existence, a great year was predicted for Sigma Zeta. In search for an understanding of our interests and capabilities a great diversity of constructive student projects were planned, carried on, and reported upon by our members.

Chemical and physical phenomena stirred our wonderment. The sweet clear notes of the mysterious singing tubes appalled our ears. The fascinating experiment in which nothing weighed nothing, still disturbs us. Biological achievements were multifarious. The experimental proof of the Mendalian laws, the projection of living microscopic organisms, and the photographing of microscopic life were a few of the more noteworthy achievements. Then, those tantalizing problems of the mathematic students that set our cerebellum to functioning. Long will these all be remembered.

The social relationships of the scientists were gained simultaneously with the nature hikes into the marshes, bird banding outings, and the illustrious formal spring banquet. Above all, the Biological Laboratory, where we gathered and learned from each other the delights and challenging difficulties that the various scientific fields have to offer.

The national social science honor society of Pi Gamma Mu was founded in 1924 and on May 18, 1931, Kappa Chapter was instituted at Mansfield by Mr. George Cass. The society is composed of Juniors and Seniors who hold an interest in the social sciences and in the promotion of lofty ideals and standards for the teaching of the social sciences. The society is unwavering in its efforts to inculcate and develop right-thinking attitudes among its adherents. As to its motto Pi Gamma Mu has chosen "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make ye free" and each member fully realizes the peculiar significance of that maxim. Twenty-six regular members and three faculty members are included on the roster of Kappa Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu. The members of this Chapter are fortunate in that they have as a sponsor the genial Dr. Chester A. Feig.

At the regular meetings addresses are given by various well-known townspeople on current topics relevant to the social science field. All is not in the realm of the intellect, however, since such recreations as games and music are also enjoyed. The Founders' Day Banquet which is held in Elmira at the close of the school year is an event long remembered by the members and makes their memory of the comradeship of the fraternity particularly lasting.

D The watchword of the Dramatic Club is "integration". This organi-
 R zation tries to develop within its members a keen sense of appreciation
 A for dramatic and literary accomplishment, to strive for careful vocal, body
 M and intellectual preparation for conversational speech, play enactment,
 A and impersonation. Among other things, time is also spent on costuming,
 T make-up, stage and business management, and play production. We do
 I not attempt to produce professional actors, but to help the prospective
 C teacher correlate his abilities to the demands of education and future life.

A Admission is upon a competitive basis and open to all students willing T to demonstrate their wares. Some are recognized by "try-outs" which I are given one each semester while others are given an opportunity by C actual participation in a short one-act play held in college assembly for
 C that purpose. All aspirants are judged by club members and by Mr. Chat-
 L tertont, our talented and willing sponsor. To him we owe the success and U excellent fellowship within our dramatic guild.

B This year the club has been very busy and its work most interesting.
 In the Fall, "Three Corned Moon" by Gertrude Tonkonogy was accepted with great applause and success. We then presented a Christmas program in the foyer, followed by three one-act plays the second semester—"The Flattering Word" by George Kelley, "The Happy Journey" by Thornton Wilder and 'Babbitt's Boy' by Glenn Hughes. The regular monthly meetings were characterized by monologues, poetic interpretation, make-up and quiz hours designed to improve extemporaneous speech. Our more experienced members also supervise dramatic activities at the Junior High School for actual coaching experience.

"Whoso would be a man, must be a nonconformist"—Emerson. Whoso would be a full man must be a member of the Emersonian Literary Society. This is a part of our philosophy. We select those individuals from the Sophomore and Junior role book who we think are willing to share their opinions with our group at our monthly discussions. An enthusiastic interest in local and world-wide topics, plus an eagerness to share their opinions with our group at our monthly discussions. And it is through this organization that we have secured practice in expressing our thoughts clearly and in giving and receiving criticism graciously. Ideas that are repressed in the classroom and forgotten in the rush of campus life become material for valuable discussion at our monthly meetings.

Activities make an "all-around scholar". Responsibilities are provided for all members of our society through the arranging of programs and electing of committees. Our aim is to add to the atmosphere that makes a Mansfield scholar "all-around".

At the beginning of this year we found that many of our members had not returned. Those who remained did not complete the needs of our newly stream-lined organization, but their whole-hearted cooperation enabled us to fill the vacancies satisfactorily and to become a full strength organization once more.

The Y. M. C. A. is a student organization which maintains high Christian standards among the men students. The members meet every Thursday evening in the "Y Hut" for their weekly meetings. These meetings are always opened with a Bible reading and prayer. Then they listen each week to a guest speaker who may be one of the faculty, a local minister or local business man. These talks vary in nature. Some are spiritual while others are ethical and still others are special or professional in nature; all are inspiring. This year the program reached out to include speakers from nearby towns.

The "Y" also maintains a recreational center. The hut is always filled with the merry voices of ping-pong players and those enjoying pool. The "Y" billiard tables are the only ones on the campus.

Each year the most enjoyed activity of the "Y" is the joint Y. M.-Y. W. Christmas meeting, the last Thursday before Christmas, at which Mr. Allen, the blind poet, is the guest speaker. His poems are full of wit and philosophy, and are highly appreciated by all. This year record attendance was experienced when no less than two hundred students crowded the hut to hear Mr. Allen.

One branch of the Y. M. C. A. is the Gospel Team, this year under the leadership of Vern Casselbury. This group of musicians and consecrated young Christians hold services in nearby churches in response to numerous invitations. This year the Team also undertook the special task of collecting a purse at Christmas time with which it purchased gifts for the children confined in the Blossburg Hospital at that time.

During the year now closing the Y. M. C. A. has lived up to all previous traditions and standards, and if anything has gone a step in advance in all phases of its activities.

The Women's Athletic Association, or, familiarly, the W. A. A., with its hundred and fifty members, is the largest college organization to make use of Smythe Park or the gymnasium. The purpose of this organization is to promote interest in sports and recreational activities among college women. Opportunity is provided for participation in various activities, including hockey, swimming, tennis, basketball, volley ball, soft ball, ping-pong, shuffleboard, badminton, archery, bowling and deck tennis. Each sport is climaxed by a tournament to determine the champion. Competition among the basketball teams was particularly exciting this year. In addition to these activities members may spend many a happy hour coasting, skiing, roller skating and otherwise making use of the equipment owned by the association.

Club meetings are held twice a month, the second and fourth Wednesday, in the gym. The first is a business meeting, the second, a social meeting. Dues admitting members to the club are nominal. The high-lights of the year's social program have been the Fall picnic, the Christmas party, a progressive game party and a scavenger hunt.

Recognition for participation is given by the awarding of the school letter to members upon completing certain participation requirements. Among these requirements is outside activities totaling toward extra points.

The "M" Club is an organization of men who have gained distinction and places in the world of inter-collegiate sports. Although sports are the primary function of the group, it has always endeavored in the past, and will strive in the future, to encourage high academic rating, uphold good school spirit and clean wholesome living, and promote campaigns for the stimulation of good sportsmanship, not only among its members, but also among students of all interests at Mansfield.

The club sponsors and arranges programs for special athletic days, which perform double duty. Not only does the club depend entirely upon the revenue gained from the sale of these programs for its finances throughout the school year, but also as identification cards to alumni and guests during athletic encounters, by which each individual player is easily recognized.

Socially, the "M" Club takes its place among the foremost clubs on the campus. It offers, at least once each year, a highly entertaining program to the student body, and its initiation week is one during which the college is given a glimpse of what an initiation should be. The annual semi-formal dance is the high light of the year, to which only members and special guests are given the privilege of attending.

The white "M" sweaters are marks of distinction worn only by those who have earned a letter in a major sport, and after being offered membership to the club have successfully gone through the strenuous initiation instituted by its members.

To belong to the "M" Club is a distinct honor, and because of this, it is the ambition of every budding athletic who enters Mansfield. Membership in the club displays besides exceeding athletic ability, a strong, willful and progressive social character.

 R students receiving an "A" average in any of the art courses offered on the T campus. The membership of the club this year has been increased a great
 C deal so that now there are a variety of projects being carried out among L the members. This year at Christmas time the club as a whole was re-

 It has been the yearly custom of the club to send its newly elected president to the Eastern Arts convention every spring. Last year three of the girls and our adviser, Miss Murphy, represented the club and this year we have an even larger representation to attend the convention.

The main objective of the club is to develop an esthetic appreciation in all its members and to help prospective teachers to correlate their artistic abilities to the demands of education and life.

Guide To The Reader

In producing a book such as this, which concerns a large group of individuals, it is impossible for the makers to escape a certain amount of comment, adverse as well as favorable. The first mentioned type of criticism may be caused by a number of real or fancied shortcomings in this book, perhaps the most obvious of which is the smaller number of pages of the book. These can be easily, if not convincingly, explained by a hasty survey of today's economic conditions. In these days of economic and political struggle, of cut W. P. A. and relief rolls, the working capital of the Carontawan has also felt the pruning shears of the depression. We, too, were compelled to work with a smaller budget and a frugal staff. Consequently a certain amount of adverse criticism is expected. This, however, is undesirable since it tends to deflate one's ego. The second, or favorable type of comment if there should be any excuse for such, is obviously also undesirable, since constant back-slapping and hand-shaking sometimes become painful.

Finally, and this is our reason for, and point of, this message, since we have obviated the necessity on the part of the reader to waste time in planning and executing various means of manifesting his reactions to this book, he will have ample time to use it more effectively. In this way it can mean much. The Reader can use it as a record of the chronology of the year, or as a prompter of sentimental reminiscences and he can come to know it as a means of recapturing some of the happier days of his college life.

If this book can even partially serve these purposes, the makers will not have worked and worried in vain.

On the pages immediately following we should like to have pictured the typical Mansfield girl and boy. Since it is always a difficult matter to put a finger on one girl or boy and label him typical, we have pictured our choices to represent definite parts of the circle which becomes the cross-section of our student body. Some were chosen for their athletic activities, some for scholarly achievement, and some simply because they were pleasing personalities. It is not difficult to admit that a composite of all would closely approximate the typical student and frequent contributor to our

ANY SERVICE

That we can give to the Year Book Boards is always cheerfully given. We enjoy the conferences with the boards and the aid that we possibly give them in undertaking what to them is a brand new experience.

Our years of printing the Carontawan and other year books and our proximity to our customers, have proved valuable aids to the various boards that have produced books. The fact that we continue to serve them shows that our work is appreciated.

When the present graduates are teaching and planning year books for their schools, we should be pleased to give them the benefit of our advice and help them in any way possible.

May success go with you.
